

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The air induction system comprises an air induction body and speaker supported about the air induction body. A control unit communicates with the speaker, controlling its output. The control unit also receives a reference signal from an alternator of a vehicle engine and uses this signal to generate a noise attenuating signal based on the reference signal.

N:\Clients\SIEMENS\IP00285\Patent\Application - Engine Rotation Reference Signal.doc